Calgary Daily Herald,

July 4, 1925.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT LAUNCHES BIG JUBILEE--STAMPEDE.

INDEX TO THE HERALD'S GREAT JUBILEE EDITION.

The Herald presents to its readers today its Calgary Jubilee edition, covering every phase of early civic history from Calgary's birthday as a mounted police post fifty years ago. The editors andothers who have worked on the edition believe they are presenting to Calgary Herald readers not only an interesting review of early days, but an invaluable record for the future. This is especially true of the unique pictures gathered at infinite trouble.

Page 1: Introduction and symbolical pictures.

Page 2: "Some human interest stories of the mounted police."

Page 3: Picture showing documents respecting the naming of Calgary. The paying of treaty money.

Page 4: "Police had to travel hazardous trails in 1875 to collect their pay"--Picture of James Fullwood, an old timer.

Page 5: Inspection of Canadian militia in west arduous task in 1875--"When a Mountain Mob Defied the Mounties."

Page 6: "Snapshots at the Old Northwest Mounted Police"--

Page 7: G.C. King tells of his early experiences--Two humorous episodes in the life of a mountie.

Page 8: Review of work accomplished by the mounted police--Mayor Webster pays his tribute.

Page 10: Poem on the Red River Cart--Story of Calgary's Stampede in 1912--Pictures.

Page 11--Scenes and incidents in the life of Crowfoot--Wonderful picture depicting last great council of the west.

Page 12--"When Alberta Called the World" poem--"A Tribute to Alberta Pioneers."

Page 13--Short history of the mounted police, with many illustrations.

Page 14--History of the West and Calgary told by the pageant.

Page 15--Continuationof pageant history.

Page 16--Continuation of pageant history and a vivid pen picture of old Fort Walsh.

Page 17--Picture of old Fort Benton Record newspaper office in 1885.

Page 18--Death of Crowfoot described by doctor. Reproduction of the first Calgary Daily Herald, with accompanying story.

Pages 19, 20, 21 and 22--Insert, four pages of the regular comics.

Pages 23--Group of pictures showing some of the men who took prominent parts in the Riel rebellion of 1885--reproduction of the first money bylaw passed in Calgary--pictures of pioneers.

Page 24--Descriptive story of oil development in the famous Turner Valley.

Page 25--Continuation of oil story, with large map showing the field.

Page 26: Some wise words of Crowfoot--Picture of Prince of Wales on his ranch at Pekisko, near High River--Picture of Col. G.E. Sanders.

Page 27: "A Northern Epic"--Patrick Burns pays tribute to the police--J.R.Royce tells of his journey with the Marquis of Lorne.

EVERY TRAIN BRINGS HOLIDAY MAKERS FROM FOUR CORNERS OF AMERICA.

Calgary's zero hour is approaching due sharp at 9.30 o'clock Monday morning.

That is the hour when Chief James Smart, marshal of Calgary grand historical jubilee pagenat, will blow the shrill whistle, signalling "go" to the big procession which will start a week of celebration in motion.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT LEADS

There will be, first, the historical pageant, full details of which are given in numerous other columns of The Herald today.

Then comes the opening of the great annual Calgary Exhibition and Stampede.

And what the small boy is looking forward to most eagerly probably are the stampede downtown street displays when Calgary will revert back to the old cow-town days with cowboys, chuck wagons and Indians roaming around and camping out on the main avenues.

.....CALGARY'S TRIBUTE: The jubilee historical pageant is declared by those who have slaved night and day for weeks preparing it, to be the greatest thing of its kind ever staged in Canada. There will be plenty of music, nine bands. The pageant is Calgary's tribute to the members of that unique and romantic force which came into Alberta 51 years ago and into Calgary 50 years ago. The two officers who led that little expedition were Inspector Brisebois and Capt. C.E. Denny, now Sir Cecil.

The inspector has gone, but Sir Cecil will be here, grey and wizened, but as bright and as alert as the day he crossed the Bow river in the wagon box. Some of the men who crossed that day, notably G.C. King, ex-mayor of the city he helped to found, will be in the parade, and so will G.W. Fletcher. .....

OLD-TIMERS IN PAGEANT.

One of the interesting features of the historical pageant will be the veterans and old-timers who will participate.

Following the float depicting old Fort Calgary, will be Mrs. Macleod and Mrs. A.E. Cross, widow and daughter of Colonel Macleod, who gave the name of Calgary to this city.

G.C. King, the first of the Mounted Police to step ashore on the site of present Calgary, after crossing the Bow river, will reproduce this incident on the float of this period.

Robert Armstrong, who captured Riel, will be on the float dealing with the rebellion. William Pullar and John Ormiston, who were firemen on the first train to enter Calgary, will be seen on the large model of the first locomotive to come to Calgary.

There will also, of course, be veterans of the Mounted Police, of the South African war, of the Riel Rebellion, and old-timers and sons of old-timers, all following the floats depicting the different periods.

Of interest also will be the old Pom Pom used in the South African war, an old field piece that played a part in the Riel Rebellion and has been especially brought in from Edmonton and other relics used on the various floats. There will be old Red River carts, dog teams, ox carts and many other old-time vehicles.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT JUBILEE

Calgary Daily Herald, July 4, 1925.

Saw the White Man Come

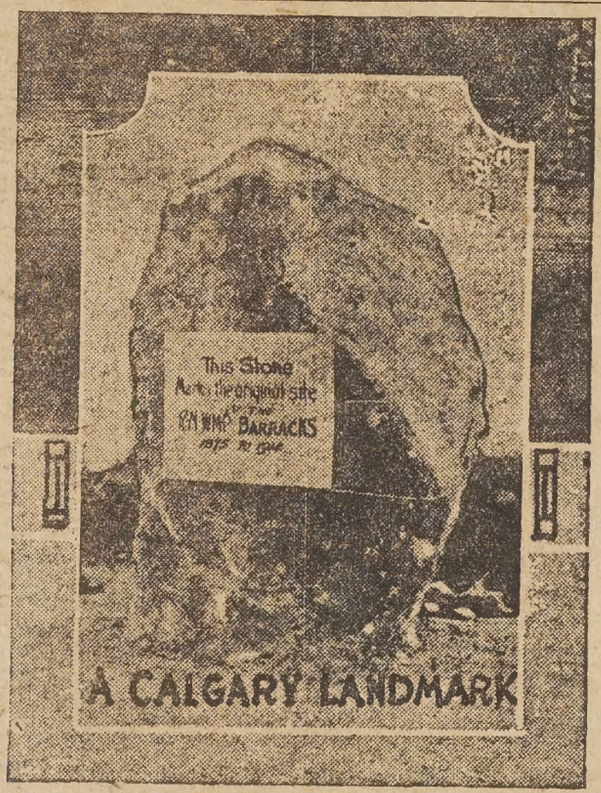
CHIEF FAR AWAY COUGH

One of the ancient sachems of the Montana Blackfoot Indians, who is a prominent visitor here, for the Calgary Police Jubilee and Stampede.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT JUBILEE

Calgary Daily Herald, July 4, 1925.

Marks Site of Police Barracks



This mass of stone marks the site of where the first police barracks in Calgary were built in 1875. It was placed there by the initiative of the Canadian Club of Calgary in 1917, being the year of the jubilee of the confederation of Canada. The club was assisted in its efforts by all the service clubs and community organizations of the city. John A. Irvine was president of the Canadian club at the time. John Mitchell, ex-mayor of Calgary, was head of the sub-committee which attended to the details of getting the stone and placing it in position. It is interesting to know that the stone came from the prairie near Shaganappi Point. Visitors to see the city may see the stone at the east end of Eighth avenue, where the car line turns on to Ninth.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT JUBILEE

Calgary Daily Herald, July 4, 1925.

Old Time Picture of Mounted Police

The start from Dufferin, Manitoba, 1874. This picture is from a sketch by A. Julien in the "Canadian Illustrated News," and re-published by the late Col. Ernest J. Chambers of the Royal North West Mounted Police.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT JUBILEE

Calgary Daily Herald, July 4, 1925.

How the Mounted Police Obtained Fresh Meat

Hunting buffalo during the long march of 1874 from Dufferin, Manitoba, to Fort Macleod. This picture is taken from a sketch by A. Julien in the "Canadian Illus trated News," and republished in a history of the "Royal North West Mounted Police," by the late Col. Ernest J. Chambers (Corps of Guides).